FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, April 10- 6 P. M The stock market has been greatly unsettied to-day The pressure to sell on the part of the reated in addition to that previously outstanding, the stant of which must be large, if we may judge by the that deliveries of the speculative railway shares, one of the European advices, together with the ted failures in the cotton trade in England untude, as in that event our exports of produce be stimulated, and with it the traffic of our main of railway extending westward. Towards the close siness a decided reaction from the extreme depres-sock place, and there were some symptoms apparent buying for a rise as well as to cover shorts. The netary facilities that the market suffered so monetary facilities that the harrest sources of y. there excited fresh apprehensions, and by causing an advance in the rates of foreign exchange influenced all the more strongly the upward course of the premium. At the same time the temper of a premium. At the same time the temper of a powerful section of the gold room is in favor of a Further rise, and the fact of the outstanding "short" interest being large materially assists the bulls in their operations. It is, of course, to the interest of the latter that every threatening rumor from Europe should be magnified into huge proportions, but it requires to be understood that these speculators are as present discounting merely possible contingencies, namely, those of war and a considerable return of our bonds from abroad for peremptory sale in consequence. They and a considerable return of our bonds from abroad for peremptory sale in consequence. They are, in thus acting upon an uncertainty, liable to be suddenly disconcerted by nows of a more pacific character, although if their predictions of war are correct gold will doubtless rise higher, whether justified by the facts of the situation or not. There was a good borrowing demand for coin, and loans were made at 1-64 a 1-16 per cent for carrying.

a 1-16 per cent per diem for borrowing, and at 2 a 7 per cent for carrying.

The foreign exchange market experienced a further advance under the effect of the European advices and closed very firm at the following rates:—Bankers' bills on England at sixty days, 109% a ½; at three days, 110 a 110%; commercial bills, 108 a 109; france at sixty days, 8.13% a 8.13%; commercial, 5.17% a 5.21%; at three days, 6.11% a 5.13%; bills on Berlin, 71% a 72; on Bremen, 75% a 79; on Frankfort, 40% a 41%; on Amsterdam, 40% a 41%; on Hamburg, 36 a 36%; on Antwerp, 8.20 a 5.17%. Owing to the reported cotton faitures in England and the continued decline of cotton abroad, bills drawn against it are regarded with distrust and prove difficult of sale without good city endorsements.

The London Times thus comments on the returns of the foreign commerce of Great Britain in 1866:—

The trade during the past year was in money value nearly fourteen per cent in excess of all former experience. Of the total of £186,827,783, nearly thirty per cent was to cer own possessions; but, large as this proportion is it is reintively less than in preceding years, since, authough the increase in our colonial shipments in 1866 was about eleven and a half per cent, in those to foreign countries it was nearly fifteen per cent. The most important feature of the list consists in the extraordinary growth of our trade with the American continent. Notwithstanding their protective tariff the United States have taken goods from us to a greater value than those taken by the whole of Germany and France combined; while as regards the countries of South America the Brazils now rank higher than any European State, with the exception of Germeny, France and Holland. New Granada comes next to Russia, and the Argentine Republic next western Union Telegraph, 37 a 3. The Financial Secretary of the Province of Nova Scotia made his annual statement on the 20th ult., from which it appears that the revenue for 1868 amounted to $1,857,248, being an increase of $185,000 over the preceding year. The expenditure during the year was exceptionably large, owing to the necessity of preparing for the Fenians and the cholers; but it was paring for the Fenians and the cholors; but it was nevertheless kept considerably within the revenue, and a handsome balance of $118,832 remains in the treasury. This is a very satisfactory exhibit. The trade returns for the year, which were submitted with the public accounts, show that the total imports amounted to $14,000,000, nearly the same as the imports of the previous year. As compared with that year there was a falling off in imports from Great Britain of $422,000, and from the United States of $284,000, while there was an increase in the imports from Canada of $217,000, from New Brunswick of $126,000, from Prince Edward Island of $143,000, and from the British West Indies of $346,000. The exports of the Province amounted for the year to $8,043,000, being a decrease of $787,000 as compared with 1868. The falling off was for the most part in the export of the to the United States, and was caused solely by the hostile commercial legislation of the republic. The export of coal to Canada increased from 7,000 tons in 1865 to $7,000 last year.

port of coal to Canada increased from 7,000 tons in 1865 to 37,000 last year.

A Cincinnati journal says:—

There is a lively competition in progress between the railroads running East from Chicago, on live stock, and rates of freight have been reduced to 30c. per 100 lbs. to Buffalo, and 25c. to Pittsburg, some roads giving passes each way, and others only one way.

The Foxboro (Mass.) Branch Railroad voted last week to accept the charter of the Ma nefield and Framingham road, and the two will be merged in one. This consolidation and the completion of the route will place New Bedford and the Cape towns in direct communication with the West and Northwest.

Belfast, Me., voted on the 6th by 895 out of 921 votes, to loan its credit for $360,000 to aid to the construction of the Belfast and Moosehead Lake Railroad. The Legislature, at its last session, voted to exempt the capital of the prope sed railroad from taxation for ten years, and authorized the issue of preferred stock bearing interest at 5 per cent for thirty years.

at 6 per cent for thirty years.

A Bangor (Me.) correspondent of the Boston Advertises

writes:—
A large and enthusiastic meeting was in session here last week to consider the project of a railroad to Piscataquis country, and to adopt measures in furtherance of its completion. The last Legislature passed a loan bill authorizing the city to loan its credit to the amount of half a million dellars for the promotion of the enterprise. The plan proposed is to locate the road to connect with the E. and N. A. track at Millord, and themes through Alton, Lagrange and Millo to Fourcroft or Dover in the one direction, and to the slate quarries at Brownville in the other. A competing road is also now being, satempted, connecting with the Maine Central at Newport and themes passing through Dexter to Dover, in connection with the road already apoken of is still another to connect the city with Winterport, the Winterport of Bangor, a distance of about thirteen miles down the rives. A charter was granted the last winter for this undertaking. In the meantime work is vigorously going on upon the track of the E. and N. A. road, and detached parties of workmen can be seen at different points on the route where winter work can be properly presecuted.

MELANCHOLY SUITION OF A SEAMSTERSS.—We are called upon to record the deliberate solf destruction of a seamstress who was driven to desperation by poverty and inability to carn a livelihood. The unhappy victim was Annie Durham, a young lady of good character, who has lived in the city for the past three years, earning a precarious subsistence by sewing. She had recently done some work for a lady and received her pay, but lost the money, and was now out of work. But one course remained for her, and that was to go to service as a house-maid. This was greatly against her inclination, and rather than bend her pride to such menial employment she received upon the desperate expedient of selfmaid. This was greatly against her inclination, and rather than bend her pride to such menial employment she resolved upon the desperate expedient of self-destruction. Failing to obtain laudanum in the house she procured a sharp razor, and after going to bed used the weapon with fatal and instantaneous effect by cutting her throat from ear the car. The windpipe, the jugular vein and the carotid artery were evered at one stroke, and death ensued immediately, and before she had time to struggle or even to remove her hand from before her throat. She was found lying in bed in her night clothes, with her face turned to the wall and the borrible gash across her throat. Her eyes were upturned and the countenance wore an expression of pain mingled with hopeless dispair. Deceased was born in the like of Man, but went thence to Canada, where she has a brother, when quite young. She was about twenty-four years of age.—St. Louis Democrat, April 6.
